Tailored for government contractors and DOT staff handling overhead rates.

AE firms working with state and local agencies must maintain audited or compliant FAR overhead rates. Without proper policies and accurate rates, firms risk costly compliance issues and audit findings. This two-day course prepares you for your first or next FAR overhead audit, guiding you in developing and refining policies to ensure accuracy, profit maximization and FAR compliance.

Learn what auditors expect and how to confidently develop, support, and defend your firm's overhead rate. Whether you're new to FAR or an industry veteran, this training provides essential strategies for government contracting success.

Topics Covered Include, But Not Limited To:

- Overview of FAR & AASHTO
- Accounting system requirements
- Importance of timesheets
- Use of "Cognizant Letter" to simplify contracting
- Field rate development
- What PMs & Principals need to know when proposing on government contracts
- Ideal labor costing method alternatives
- Compensation Matrix
- Executive compensation under FAR
- Can an agency limit your direct rates?
- Why allowable overhead is the biggest profit factor for govcon negotiations
- Minimizing unallowable overhead
